UNIVERSITY OF GREENWICH

Overview of Staff Essentials

What are staff essentials?

- They are for all staff on a research pathway.
- They are linked to your appraisal as development goals.

Why are they essential?

- These sessions prepare you for supervision practice in general, and at Greenwich in particular.
  - How do I approach key elements of the supervisory relationship?
  - What do I need to know to recruit new postgraduate researchers?
  - What are the visa compliance regulations and what do I have to do if I am supervising an international PGR?
  - Understanding Research Ethics at Greenwich
  - How do I approach examining or chairing a PhD examination?

UNIVERSITY OF GREENWICH

Session title	What does it cover?	Who needs to do this training?
Supervisor Induction	• Find out how to get started as a Greenwich supervisor. • Key tools and resources you need as a supervisor • "What makes a good PhD supervisor?" • Supervisory responsibilities outside the delivery of the PhD project • Panel discussion on the key challenges of supervision	• This is a Staff Essential for all staff on a research pathway, is linked to the appraisal, and should be taken by all new supervisors and all supervisors new to Greenwich • Optional for staff on enterprise and teaching pathways • No refresher required but take advantage of THE COLLAB: Greenwich Supervisors' Network to keep your professional practice up to date

Recruitment & Selection of PGR students	• Successful recruitment is vital to the university's research outcomes; what needs to happen to ensure this, and why.
	  • What are the admissions processes at Greenwich?
	  • What are the interview requirements for PGRs?
	  • How do I ensure I am recruiting fairly?
		• This is a Staff Essential for all staff on a research pathway, is linked to the appraisal and should be taken by all staff recruiting PGRs.
		• Optional for staff on enterprise and teaching pathways
		• Refresher required every four years to take account of changes in systems/processes.

International compliance	• Gain the knowledge and confidence to support your students as they navigate the complex requirements of the UK's immigration system. • Find out about how the visa system impacts our PGRs. • Understand where your role starts and ends.	• This is a Staff Essential linked to the appraisal and should be taken by all staff on a research pathway who are supervising international students. • Refresher required every four years to take account of legal / regulatory changes.
Ethical Research online courses: ▪ Becoming an Ethical Researcher ▪ Research Ethics in Practice	• Explore the ethical challenges faced by researchers • Reflect on your ethical approach in a research context through contemporary case studies and multidisciplinary scenarios. • Use a practical guide to applying ethical values to research. • Reflect on how to work ethically in a variety of circumstances.	• This is a Staff Essential and appears on staff appraisals for those on a research pathway who are undertaking and / or supervising research that requires ethical approval. • Recommended for all supervisors • Refresher required every three years.
Preparing to be a Research Degrees Examiner	• As part of the examining panel, it is your responsibility to assess the thesis and the candidate against the standards expected across the University sector. • What are those standards, and how do you assess them? • What does the candidate need to demonstrate and how?	• This is a Staff Essential linked to the appraisal for those acting in the capacity of examiner for research degrees. • No refresher but take advantage of THE COLLAB: Greenwich Supervisors' Network to keep your professional practice up to date.
Preparing to be Chair of a Research Degrees Examination Panel	• Become familiar with the regulations and standards and be able to provide independent guidance to the examiners for a range of scenarios. • This highlights both good practice and common pitfalls drawing on the experiences of those who are currently in that role.	• This is a Staff Essential linked to the appraisal for those acting in capacity of Chair of research degrees examination panel. • No refresher but take advantage of THE COLLAB: Greenwich Supervisors' Network to keep your professional practice up to date.

Becoming a Future Ready Researcher

So now you have done the Staff Essentials! What's next?

The Researcher Development Team is here to help you create skills, connections and development for a thriving career.

The COLLAB: peer-to-peer sessions focused on supervisory practice. Hone your skills, discuss your concerns, stay ahead of the curve!

RKE Compass: a career development programme for early career and mid-career academics. Apply in the spring for a May/June delivery aimed at creating connections, building your skills and knowledge, charting your learning, and giving you the opportunity to reflect.

British Academy Early Career Researcher Network: Join the BA ECNR, take advantage of a full programme of training, development, retreats, and networking events. Apply for funds to host your own events and find connections with a whole host of Early Career Researchers across the London Cluster.

Click through to our Library of Options, and don't forget to join our Researcher Development Learning Environment.

UNIVERSITY OF GREENWICH

Doctoral Training Alliance (DTA) Training Programme 2026/27

- The University of Greenwich provide additional development opportunities through the Doctoral Training Alliance (DTA) Training Programme 2026-2027.
- This year specific DTA training is open to all supervisors and early career researchers.
- This is a popular programme of training events, offering a range of workshops and network to support you.

Booking Information for DTA Training

- Visit the DTA website to view PGR Supervisors or ECRs events: What's On & Events @ Doctoral Training Alliance
- Use the ‘Book now’ button on an individual event page and follow the instructions onscreen to register. Registration closes 4 working days prior to each session.
- All sessions take place online via Teams/Zoom.
- Contact dta@unialliance.ac.uk if you experience any issues when registering.

UNIVERSITY OF GREENWICH

THE COLLAB: Greenwich Supervisors' Network

Session (click to join on Teams)	Description
Managing expectations in the early days of supervision 14 October, 1pm to 2pm	The first meeting between supervisor and supervisee can set the tone for a successful doctoral journey. In this informal, discussion-based session, two experienced supervisors will share their approaches to establishing expectations, building effective working relationships and creating a positive start to supervision. Participants will be invited to contribute their own experiences, discuss common challenges and reflect on good practice in the early stages of candidature. Join us for the first COLLAB session to exchange ideas, learn from colleagues and explore how to lay the foundations for productive and supportive supervision.
Greenwich Inclusion Plans for PGRs 17 November, 1pm to 2pm	Presentation followed by Q&A with subject matter experts, Shapna Compton and Kate Southgate. What are the challenges of ensuring that reasonable adjustments for PGRs are appropriate, what do we do if they change, how do we apply some of those adjustments and who can we go to for help. Really valuable session to spread the PGR GIP word and give all our PGRs what they need to progress and succeed.
How much guidance is too much? Finding a balance in the level of support/direction we give to PGRs 02 December, 1pm to 2pm	Guiding PGRs is a balancing act: too much direction risks hindering students' development as independent researchers; too little might leave them unsupported and confused on a complex journey. Where that balance sits can change depending on supervision styles, project stages, expectations, and individual students' prior experience and current needs. In this session, colleagues will be invited to share how they have navigated this balance in their own supervisory practice, followed by an open discussion for all attendees to compare approaches, raise their own dilemmas, and think through how to calibrate the level of guidance they offer.
AI, Accountability, and the Doctoral Journey: Navigating Research, Learning, and Supervision 20 January, 1pm to 2pm	Explore the opportunities, challenges, and implications of AI in supervision practice. Join this discussion focused on frameworks that the presenters have created. The session will highlight how different approaches can shape practice. You will be invited to consider AI from the doctoral journey perspective, examining issues of ethical autonomy, accountability, disclosure, and governance. We can ask as one group key questions centred on the extent to which PGRs and supervisors should use AI, whether AI functions as a research tool or a substitute for learning, and how critical engagement with AI can be fostered across disciplines while preserving research skills development.

Session (click to join on Teams)	Description
In Conversation: Supervision, Researcher Development and PGR Progression 03 February 1pm to 2pm	In this interactive COLLAB session, four experienced supervisors will lead a conversation on some of the most frequently asked questions relating to supervision, researcher development and PGR progression. Topics will include identifying training and development needs, understanding the Doctoral Journey Map, the roles of Faculty PGR Heads, School PGR Leads and the Academic Reviewers. And more ... Participants will have the opportunity to share experiences, ask questions and gain practical insights from colleagues involved in supporting doctoral researchers across the institution.
What makes a good Doctoral Examiner? 22 March, 1pm to 2pm	What knowledge, skills and approaches underpin effective doctoral examination? In this discussion-based session, the Head of the Doctoral College will explore current practice and emerging trends in doctoral assessment across the sector. Drawing on the collective experience of supervisors and examiners, the session will provide an opportunity to share perspectives, discuss challenges and consider what contributes to a fair, rigorous and developmental examination process. Participants will be encouraged to reflect on their own practice and exchange insights with colleagues involved in doctoral supervision and examination.
Using Coaching Techniques in Supervision Practice 22 April, 1 pm to 2pm	Research supervisors are often expected to provide answers, guidance and solutions. However, some of the most effective supervisory conversations happen when supervisors step back and create space for researchers to think for themselves. Coaching approaches can help supervisors develop active listening skills, ask powerful questions and resist the urge to immediately offer advice. This interactive session will explore how coaching techniques can enhance supervision practice by encouraging reflection, supporting independent problem-solving and helping researchers develop confidence in their own decision-making. Participants will learn practical strategies for using coaching conversations to support postgraduate researchers in navigating challenges, identifying opportunities and planning for the future.

Section 6: British Academy ECR Network

BA ECRN

- The University of Greenwich is proud to be one of the four delivery partners of the London Cluster of The British Academy Early Career Research Network. The network is an inclusive membership body for all UK-based early career researchers (ECRs) working in the humanities and social sciences.
- As a delivery partner, Greenwich participates in decision-making and reporting for the cluster and provides key headline events each year. In 2024-25 and in 2025-26 the Greenwich team provided three linked events with the overarching title Navigating the Funding Landscape.
- Each event links to the next, providing those who attend all three with a journey from idea to funding application. In addition, each event could also be a standalone session for those who wanted to focus on just one topic.

"[the project] most definitely wouldn't exist if we hadn't met at the Sandpit."

Section 7: PULSE

UNIVERSITY OF GREENWICH

What is PULSE?

- PULSE is the digital environment used by Greenwich to support PGRs, supervisory teams and researcher development activities.
- It is an online system designed to give you all the information you need in one place, enabling streamlining of administrative processes, giving you greater access to key progression and training information, and providing a simple booking platform for researcher development opportunities.

What does PULSE do?

PULSE enables PGRs to:

- Access information relating to their record with the university
- View their key academic milestones
- Record supervisory meetings and points of contact
- Complete and submit forms designed to enable progression (formerly Research Degree Administration forms)
- Complete a Development Needs Analysis (DNA) linked to the Vitae Researcher Development Framework (RDF)
- View and book Researcher Development activities and events
- View and maintain a record of their training and development activities

PULSE enables supervisors / research staff to:

- Submit supervisory teams for approval
- View your supervisee's programme information
- View your supervisee's meeting records
- Sign Induction Checklists for your supervisees
- Complete and submit Research Plan Approval forms for your supervisees
- View your supervisee's timeline of mandatory training
- View and book your own Researcher Development training and development activities
- View a record of your own training and development activities

PULSE video guides STAFF

About PULSE and how to log in

- How do I log in to PULSE as an internal supervisor?
- How do I log in to PULSE as an external supervisor?
- I have two accounts, how should I log in?
- Who can I contact for support or report a problem/error messages?

Staff Development

- How to find and book a training session?
- How to cancel a booked session, or request to be removed from the waiting?
- How to find details of all booked training sessions?

UNIVERSITY OF GREENWICH

What to do if a course is booked elsewhere?

PGRs

- CORE training not booked on PULSE will be uploaded by the training team.
- All voluntary courses and activities not booked via PULSE should be added to create a full portfolio of training and development. PGRs can do this via the option to self-record an activity on the Completed Activities page of the Professional Development tab.

Staff

- Staff Essential training that is not booked via PULSE will be uploaded by the training team.
- All other training and development that is not booked via PULSE should be recorded on Horizon, which is your main training and development record.
- If you wish your PULSE activities to show in Horizon please manually enter them onto your Horizon training record. PULSE will integrate with Horizon in the future but does not do so at present.

UKRIO

UKRIO Introduction to Research Integrity

We subscribe to the new UKRIO online self-directed course entitled Introduction to Research Integrity. Take this training in your own time, online. This is broken down into three modules:

- Module 1: Principles of research integrity
- Module 2: Frameworks to support research integrity
- Module 3: Research integrity in practice

When accessing each module for the first time, learners will need to register using their name, surname, and Greenwich University email address. Learners can save their progress, by pressing the ‘Exit the module’ button and return to the course at any time before 31 July 2027.

Access UKRIO website for more information.
